

Ass. Prof. Dipl.-Ing. Dr. Walter Seher
Institute of Spatial Planning and Rural Development, Head
University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna
Peter-Jordan-Straße
A-821190 Wien

Walter Seher is assistant professor and intermediate head of the Institute of Spatial Planning and Rural Development (IRUB) at the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna (BOKU). He holds a master's degree in Civil Engineering and Water Management and a PhD from BOKU-University.

Scientific education and Career: 2012 – Intermediate head of Institute of Spatial Planning and Rural Development, BOKU. 2008 – General secretary of the European Academy for Land Use and Development (EALD). 2004 – Assistant professor at Institute of Spatial Planning and Rural Development, BOKU. 2002 – Guest Researcher at Disaster Prevention Research Institute, Kyoto University. 1998 – PhD at University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna (BOKU). 1994-2004 – University assistant at Institute of Spatial Planning and Rural Development, BOKU. 1994 – Graduation in Civil Engineering and Water Management, BOKU.

Main fields of interest: Land management, land consolidation, land tenure, rural development, spatial planning and flood risk management, spatial planning and agriculture.

Walter Seher has managed national, and was involved in international research projects leading to more than 80 publications in scientific journals, book chapters, reports, conference papers and presentations.